As editors, our approach continues to be one of supporting authors in developing and improving their submissions to ALT-J through a constructive, iterative process. Our reviewers enable us to do this by providing detailed and considered feedback to authors. Collectively, our reviewers have contributed to enhancing the quality of ALT-J, and we are extremely grateful.

Our submission statistics for this year are as follows: 50% of submissions were rejected, 17% of submissions to ALT-J in 2006 were accepted subject to amendments and 33% of submissions to ALT-J in 2006 were accepted subject to amendments and re-review. Of those accepted submissions 20% have been published, with the remaining still in the process of revision or review.
